Save Our NHS
Our NHS is under threat. The government is trying to push through major restructuring that is damaging to patients.

Here’s what the government doesn’t want you to know:

The Health and Care Bill will result in cuts to services and access to treatments. It will take money away from frontline health care into profits for private companies.

It also breaks NHS England into 42 different pieces, meaning that some services will be available in some places but not others, creating a postcode lottery for treatments and making it difficult for patients to get the care they need.

Ultimately, it will force those who can afford it to pay for their health care. Those who can’t will have to go without.

The Bill also caps adult social care costs at £86,000, which will hit the average household hard, while leaving the rich protected.

Unite has been leading the fight to defeat the Bill. Please join us and help to get the message out about the impact of the Bill on local NHS services.
